Inventory:

N.B: As the first page of many issues of the newsletter was not attributed a page number, these pages have been given the status of first page in issues published prior to 1987. As such, this means that many of the table of contents and the page numbers indicated throughout the newsletters do not necessarily correspond with the page numbers on this finding aid. Newsletters published in or following 1987 have had this “table of contents” page designated as page 0.

This finding aid is in an unconventional chronological order. This was done to match the order in which they were placed into the binders. As such, one should start from the back of the first binder, and work towards the front, in order to view the documents in the order in which they are listed below.
